

The IALP is researching how Developmental Language Disorder is diagnosed in multilingual children in different countries

Please share your thoughts and experience in our survey

 International Association of Communication Sciences and Disorders

This project has been approved by the Edith Cowan University Ethics Review Board. Approval Number: 2020-02004-HUNT

Dear Colleague

The members of the Multilingual-Multicultural Affairs Committee of the International Association of Communication Sciences and Disorders \(IALP\) recently launched an international survey to find out how clinicians in different countries assess and diagnose the language skills of multilingual children.

This invitation to participate in the survey has been forwarded to you by your colleague, as they recognise your significant skills and experience in assessment of multilingual children. Participation is completely voluntary, and your responses will be anonymous. This project has approval from Edith Cowan University Ethics Committee (approval number 2020-02004-HUNT).

We would be most grateful for your insight, and also ask you to forward the link to your professional networks and colleagues that also work with multilingual children.

To start the survey, please click here (<https://link.webropolsurveys.com/S/6E17DD916CEA3A96>)

Thank you for your support

Prof Dr Wiebke Scharff Rethfeldt & Dr Lemmietta McNeilly, on behalf of the Multilingual-Multicultural Affairs Committee
International Association of Communication Sciences and Disorders (IALP)